

ENDORSE PLANS OF PACKING PLANT

Business Men Eager to Establish New Industry.

HOPE TO OPEN NOV. 1

DISCUSS BENEFITS THAT WILL ACCRUE TO CITY AND STATE.

Active work was undertaken yesterday to raise funds to establish a large packing house in Salt Lake along the lines suggested by J. C. Leary at the meeting of the Real Estate association Wednesday. It is expected that the stock for the enterprise will be fully subscribed for within a few days.

The committee which has the matter in charge—J. W. Houston, chairman; A. Richter, Thomas Homer, W. J. Hallock and E. G. Darling—will meet Saturday or Monday, when active steps will be taken to bring the affair to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Leary gave an outline yesterday of what they hoped to accomplish at once.

"We shall need $125,000 to feel justified in building the plant," he said. "In the next twenty or twenty-five days, we can raise this amount, we can complete the work and be ready for operation Nov. 1. I believe this can and will be done. Already six men, whose names I am unable to mention, have subscribed for a considerable amount of stock and I would not be surprised to see the full amount subscribed in ten days."

Will Erect Modern Plant.

"We shall erect a modern plant in every particular, with every modern contrivance that has been proved a success by the big Chicago establishments. We shall have a large factory, a sausage shop, and hide and fertilizer departments. The naked plant, outside of the expense of securing the site, will cost approximately $50,000. The plans for the buildings have already been drawn."

"The first few years we cannot expect to be able to operate as economically as the Chicago houses, as it will be impossible for us to use up the by-products as successfully as they do. That is, we will not have soap, glycerine, hair, sandpaper and various other departments, at least at the start. We may come later, to offset this disadvantage, however, we will have a large plant in freight rates of over 50 per cent. We will buy practically all our own doors and save the freight on livestock to Chicago. We will fix our cost at the plant, while they will add the freight of carrying the dressed beef from Chicago to Salt Lake. This will more than make up for any deficiency in economy and will allow us to undersell them by a considerable margin."

Biggest Trouble to Get Stock.

"The plant will have a capacity for killing on an average of 300 head of cattle, 1,000 head of sheep and 1,000 head of hogs per day. We do not expect to do this amount of business in the first year or two. If we slaughter 10,000 head of cattle, 50,000 head of sheep and 20,000 head of hogs the first year, for one, should be satisfied. The plant will not be in disposing of the goods, but in obtaining the stock. The farmers of Utah have had little encouragement to go extensively into livestock raising. Being so far from the market, with the uncertainty of price and high freight rates, they have preferred to raise other products. If, however, they have a market at their doors, where they can obtain fair prices without having to pay exorbitant freight, they will in a few years raise stock in abundance. Very few hogs are raised in Utah, yet with a little encouragement I am convinced we could find it very profitable to do so. I am much encouraged at the outlook and can almost say that I consider the scheme an assured fact."

Houston Tells of Benefits.

J. W. Houston, when asked what he thought the advantages of such an enterprise would be, replied:

"I know of no one thing that would do more to build up the city than a packing plant. It will benefit the whole country around, not only Utah, but Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and part of Colorado as well. As an instance of what a packing plant will do, take the city of Fort Worth, Tex. Five years ago it was a small crossroads town. Today, after the establishment of such an industry, it is a thriving city of 40,000."

"I am satisfied that there will be but little trouble in raising the necessary money. Every one that I have talked with seems enthusiastic over the proposition. Few, if any, imagine what a benefit such a plant will be to the city of population, increase of wealth, increase of work, increase of valuation and increase of business can all be expected."

Broad Market to be Controlled.

Thomas Homer also spoke of the great advantages Salt Lake would come from the building of such a plant.

"In time we could control the meat market from the River of the North to Grand Junction on the south, and from Nevada to central Wyoming," he said. "Salt Lake is the natural center of distribution for all this territory."

When asked as to the location of the plant, Mr. Homer replied:

"The packing plant four things must be taken into consideration: Water supply, adequate sewerage, railroad facilities and a place sufficiently distant from the city to avoid complications or suits for damages on the ground of being a nuisance. I know of but one locality that answers all these requirements, and that is the territory around the hot springs. This will undoubtedly be the location. The value of the land there is comparatively small, and this is another consideration. I believe that in a few years we will see a good sized town built out near hot springs. This town will be the center of a metropolitan center. To say that this alone would increase the population of our city 20,000, I do not think would be an extravagant prediction."

J. Dornan Reavis said:

"Such an industry will be an everlasting benefit to the city and to the farmers of the state. It will give employment to a large number of men and that means prosperity. It will give business to the city, increase the bank clearings and give general impetus to business."

"It is a cold, hard business proposition," declared J. C. Carter. "However, I believe from what I know of it that it can be made a success. We must commence slowly and feel our way. The packing plant must be thoroughly planned and thoroughly business methods are employed. I think a business can be gradually built up that will be a credit to the city and state."

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Benjamin Rupert Died Suddenly, Evidently of Heart Failure.

Benjamin Rupert, aged 38, formerly a cook at the Royal cafe, was found dead in bed last evening in his room in the Union house, 263 South Main street. Death was from natural causes, the police think, evidently heart disease. As far as known the man had no relatives in this section of the country.

A close examination of the body showed that Mr. Rupert had been working steadily for some time, had been in the habit of sleeping until about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Yesterday he did not feel as usual. About 10 o'clock Mrs. Sarah Goss, who runs the house, became apprehensive. About 10 o'clock, when Mr. Rupert did not appear, she had her maid look for him. He was not in his room. She called the matter. He looked over a transom and saw Rupert dead in bed. He entered the room through another door.

A close examination of the body showed that Mr. Rupert had his right hand tightly clutched over his heart. A little blood had oozed from the mouth, slightly staining the sheet. It is thought Mr. Rupert was taken with an attack of heart failure, and died before he realized how precarious was his condition.

OFFICERS TO LEAVE.

Four Are to be Transferred From Fort Douglas.

The last number of the Army and Navy Register contains the information that four of the officers at the post are to leave here in the early autumn. They are transferred from the Twenty-second battery of field artillery each to a different company of coast artillery.

Lieutenant Henry B. Farrar, who will be a captain by the time the order takes effect, goes to the Ninety-second company of coast artillery, which is stationed at Honolulu. Lieutenant Adna G. Clarke is transferred to the Sixty-seventh company of coast artillery at the Presidio. Lieutenant William P. Platt is transferred to the Twenty-third company of coast artillery at Fort McKinley in Maine, and Lieutenant John Anderson Berry goes to the Twenty-fourth company of coast artillery in Manila.

ROWLAND HALL CATALOGUE.

Twenty-Third Annual Edition Fine Sample Printers' Catalogue.

The twenty-third annual catalogue of Rowland Hall has just come from the printers' hands, and is ready for distribution by the faculty of that institution of learning. It is the most comprehensive and expensively gotten-up book ever issued by the school. The catalogue is a cream white, heavy paper, enclosing thirty-two pages of printed matter. It contains a number of fine half-toned photographs of the exterior and interior of the grounds and a vista of the city from the tower of the institution. The second picture in the book is a striking likeness of the late Bishop Abel Leonard, who was rector of the school at the time of his death.

PERSONAL.

F. J. Kiesel of Ogden was in the city on business yesterday.

William D. Risher of Castilla Springs was in Salt Lake on business yesterday.

John C. Critchlow, secretary of the Utah Credit Men's association, who has been at St. Anthony, Idaho, on business, will arrive in the city today.

C. B. Henderson, a mining man from San Francisco, is registered at the Ogden.

Dr. F. E. Straup of Brigham Junction is stopping at the Ogden. He is on his way home from the St. Louis fair.

STARTS OUT TO BE BUT A BRIDESMAID AND BECOMES BRIDE WITH GIRL FRIEND

When Miss Louise Gordon left for Salt Lake with Miss Etta M. Mann of Tucker several days ago to act as the latter's bridesmaid in her wedding to Warren G. Syphus, a Rio Grande telegraph operator, she little thought that within eight hours she would be a bride. In fact, there was no reason for dreaming of such a thing when her marriage to Edward M. Moor, a Rio Grande conductor, had already been set for September.

On the car coming down from Tucker, however, Miss Mann got busy. As the train pulled out she observed to Miss Gordon that it would seem rather ludicrous for her to be returning alone while she herself and Warren would be enjoying their honeymoon. That, of course, was only natural for one to remark.

As Thistle Miss Mann went a little further and observed "how nice it would have been if the wedding could have been arranged for the same date."

As the train pulled out of Provo she wondered how Miss Gordon could be willing to wait until September for her wedding ceremony. By that time, she and Warren G. Syphus would be settled and enjoying the comforts of a home and married life.

Miss Gordon was beginning to weaken. At American Fork she wondered "if Ed would be willing."

Somewhere between American Fork and Brigham Junction, Cupid stepped in at an unhoped-for station. It might have been the psychological moment. At any rate, when the Junction was reached Miss Gordon was quite sure that she should not wait until September to change her name to Moor.

When Murray was reached the two brides-to-be were discussing wedding dresses and the time and place of the ceremony.

On this point they and Mr. Syphus and Mr. Moor easily agreed. The ceremony was performed yesterday afternoon in the apartments of Mrs. E. Fitzpatrick of the Independence house by Rev. Benjamin Young of the First Methodist church. Miss Mann was gown in white crepe de chine and Miss Gordon wore a dainty white tulle. The ceremony was witnessed by about a dozen friends of the principals and of Mrs. Fitzpatrick, who has for many years known Mr. Moor.

The young women were accompanied from Tucker by Mrs. Mahe, wife of the trainmaster at that point. The acquaintance between Miss Mann and Mr. Syphus began while the former was employed in one of the company's telegraph stations. The couples leave today on a honeymoon tour.

Remarkably well considering the very hot dry windy weather we have had of late. Yesterday was election day for a school trustee. There were 107 ballots cast, a very light vote. Willard Day, Republican, had 57, John W. Bentley, Democrat, had 46, and Mr. Jay succeeded himself as trustee.

The Matherson family are holding a reunion today here in the opera house. There is quite a large family of them, one of the sons having recently come here from Scotland and he had not seen one or two of his brothers for nearly thirty years.
